

I would like to let you know that I think relaxing the ownership rules for tv ownership would be a bad thing. I believe that this would lead to owners that are less responsive to their customers and an increase in cost for consumers.